2. Under the terms of article 36 of the Rome Statute, six judges will be elected to serve for a term of nine years.
3. According to article 36, paragraph 4, States Parties were required to make nominations either by the procedure for the nomination of candidates for appointment to the highest judicial offices in the State in question or by the procedure provided for the nomination of candidates for the International Court of Justice in the Statute of that Court. In addition, nominations were to be accompanied by a statement in the necessary detail specifying how the candidate fulfils the requirements laid down in paragraph 3 of article 36.
4. According to article 36, paragraphs 3 and 5, the judges were to be nominated from among persons of high moral character, impartiality and integrity who possess the qualifications required in their respective State for appointment to the highest judicial offices. Every candidate for election to the Court should also have an excellent knowledge of and be fluent in at least one of the working languages of the Court. In addition, two lists of candidates have been established (see annex II to the present note):
 - List A:* Candidates having established competence in criminal law and procedure, and the necessary relevant experience, whether as judge, prosecutor, advocate or in other similar capacity, in criminal proceedings;
 - List B:* Candidates having established competence in relevant areas of international law such as international humanitarian law and the law of human rights, and extensive experience in a professional legal capacity which is of relevance to the judicial work of the Court.
5. For purposes of this election to the Court, at least one judge will be elected from List A and at least one judge will be elected from List B. In addition, at least one judge will be elected from the African Group, one judge from the Asia-Pacific group and one from the Group of Latin American and Caribbean States. Furthermore, at least five female judges will be elected.
6. Article 36, paragraph 6, requires that the judges be elected by secret ballot at a meeting of the Assembly of States Parties convened for that purpose under article 112, and that the persons elected to the Court shall be the six candidates who obtain the highest number of votes and a two-thirds majority of the States Parties present and voting. In the event that a sufficient number of judges is not elected on the first ballot, successive ballots will be held until the remaining places have been filled, in accordance with the provisions of resolution ICC-ASP/3/Res.6, relating to the procedure for the nomination and election of judges of the International Criminal Court, and amended by resolutions ICC-ASP/5/Res.5, ICC-ASP/12/Res.8 and ICC-ASP/14/Res.4, respectively.

7. Under the terms of article 36, paragraphs 7 and 8, no two judges may be nationals of the same State, and the States Parties shall, in the selection of judges, take into account the need, within the membership of the Court, for the representation of the principal legal systems of the world; equitable geographical representation; and a fair representation of female and male judges. In addition, States Parties are required to take into account the need to include judges with legal expertise on specific issues, including, but not limited to, violence against women or children.

8. In accordance with paragraph 13 of resolution ICC-ASP/3/Res.6, the nomination period was opened on 24 April 2017, by a decision of the Bureau of the Assembly of States Parties on 20 February 2017, and closed on 16 July 2017. The nomination period was initially opened for 12 weeks. In accordance with paragraph 11 of the same resolution, the President of the Assembly extended the nomination period three times, for two weeks.
